

The page is coming along really well. Am pleased with the header at the top and impressed with the layout and border of the site. Here are a few things that we discussed should/could happen:

- Work on the links and get them working
- Blur/haze/put a fuzzy transparent thing on the borders to fade it into the background a little more
- Add a border on the bottom of the page to put all the source, and signify to the user that they have reached the end of the page
